At UVCI, Green is Our Favorite Color!

At UVCI we are committed to doing our part to help contribute to the environment— and your resorts! At the Villa Group we try to follow the rule “act like you live here.” Keeping that philosophy in mind makes it easier to make good choices for efficiency and the environment. Here are just some of the ways we are protecting “Mother Earth,” and some of the ways you can help us.

Save Paper, Save Trees, Save the Planet -

UVCI’s servicing partner ResortCom offers a paperless billing option for the maintenance fee billings and loans. By signing up for this easy, fast, convenient and secure method of receiving and paying your bills, we all save time, postage, and paper. Remember – it’s easier to save paper than plant trees! Sign up today at: www.resortcom.com. Log into your account and click "Maintenance Fee" then click E-Statement tab and select Electronic Mail.

Conservation – We Don’t Waste Clean Water!

Members and guests have the option to change your linens every three days instead of daily, which helps the resort save water and electricity. Remember – always hang your towels if they can be reused – if they are left the ground, housekeeping will replace them.

“Paper, Bottles, Cans, Plastic... Recycle them all, it’s Fantastic!”

Recycling is an easy and important way to contribute to the environment. All trash produced in the resort from Housekeeping, Administration, and the Restaurants are recycled, including paper, plastic, glass bottles, and aluminum cans. Additionally, organic and inorganic waste is separated and organic waste is sent to a plant that recycles it for mulch. Recycling units are already poolside at the resorts to make it easier for you to recycle while you are relaxing.

We Don’t Throw it Away – We Use It Another Way -

When UVCI and the Resort developers install new furniture and furnishings in the rooms and common areas, the old pieces are not just discarded! Instead, furniture, computers, equipment and other accessories and furnishings are auctioned off to the employees, or given to the thrift store. The money collected is donated to Eagles Wings Foundation, which provides donations to many local charities in Villa Group resort destination cities.

I would like to wrap up with a sobering reminder “There is no Planet B.” At the Villa Group we are so appreciative of the natural beauty of Mexico - the ocean, deserts, forests and beaches in which we have the privilege of working, living and playing. We are committed to protecting these natural resources for future generations and hope you will support us in our efforts.

Sincerely,

Robert Kistner

SAN DIEGO OFFICE LOCATION

Many of our long time members are used to driving to our California office for assistance with Member Services and Reservations. We would like to remind everyone that although the corporate office and some accounting and systems personnel still work in San Diego, all of the reservations staff has moved to Las Vegas and is no longer located at the San Diego address. Our new Vegas Call Center staff have been fully trained to assist you with any question you may have on your account, and can walk you through all of your membership benefits such as reservations, exchange, vacation banking and borrowing, Club time, upgrades and much more.

TOWEL POLICY

One of the greatest pleasures on vacation is the ability to kick back and do nothing. Relaxing in a lounge chair is a great way to do this, and the lounge chairs are available for all our members and guests. We have tried many different programs and we believe that the best way to ensure fairness is to provide the chairs on a first-come, first-basis. This means if a chair is available at the time you plan to actively use it, you may place your belongings there for the duration of your stay. However, we do not permit the reservation of chairs for a later time by placing items, clothing, towels etc on them. Our staff and security personnel are instructed to collect all unattended items left on chairs in order to make sure the chairs are made available for other members and guests. You may collect any belongings we have gathered at the towel cabana.

We understand that some of you may be frustrated by this policy. However, many others are frustrated when there are rows of chairs being "held" but no one actually using them. Let's all be considerate of our fellow members and guests - we are "neighbors" while on property and need to be fair and respectful of EVERYONE's time.

Get Rid of Jet Lag Once and For All!

Jet lag can be a real bummer on your relaxing vacation! Who wants to go a whole week with their internal body clock in the wrong time zone! It usually takes 3-4 days to overcome jet lag naturally, and that could put a big damper on your vacation plans! Even if you are only changing time zones by a few hours, this can have a big effect!

How to prepare for Jet lag

Head to bed an hour or two earlier (or later) for 2-3 days before you leave for your trip. This will start adjusting your internal clock. Make sure you know how many hours of sleep per night your body is used to, and adjust to that.

As soon as you board the plane change your clock to the time zone you are traveling to. This way you can mentally start to prepare for what time it will be when you arrive to your destination. It's always so weird to look at your watch and see that it's 4pm, but once you get off the plane 5 mins later it's actually 6pm.

Drink a lot of water before, during and after your flight. Keep yourself hydrated on the day of your flight and avoid any alcoholic beverages, which will only serve to dehydrate you.

Take a nap when you arrive only if you really need to. And try to limit it to 30 minutes so you don't disturb your normal evening sleeping.

Hopefully this will help you to have a happier and more energized vacation! Remember, change your internal clock and drink lots of water! No one wants to waste half of their vacation trying to catch up on sleep!

The American Society of Plastic Surgery reports increases in nearly every category of plastic surgery, but especially breast lift and augmentation, tummy tuck and liposculpture – or, in aesthetic surgery industry marketing terms, the Mommy Makeover trifecta. The website WebMD is reporting on the growing trend, profiling 31-year old licensed practical nurse Lisa Brock. "After breastfeeding all four kids, I went from a C cup to less than an A! Even my mother said she'd never seen anyone that needed surgery more than me." After her augmentation and lift, Brock went for a tummy tuck to take care of the loose skin around her midsection, a byproduct of four pregnancies impervious to dieting and working out.

According to the ASPS statistics breast augmentations are up 55% and tummy tucks are up more than 4,000%. Yes, you read that right – four thousand percent!

Demand is also fueled by the rise in, and ease of, destination makeovers, that is, mommies opting to have their procedures outside of the United States, usually in Mexico, Costa Rica, or Brazil, often at savings of more than 50% than in the US.

Another Benefit for UVC Members

WebMD 's reported average price for the mommy makeover is about $17,000; UVC partner Nuehealth's price for the same procedures is $6500, working with board-certified plastic surgeon Dr. Juan Luque in Mexicali – and the price even includes round-trip airport transportation.

"It's great for US patients when multiple facilitator businesses are working with a top international hospital, or a surgeon such as Dr. Luque," confirms Deborah Natsch, VP of Operations for Nuehealth, "Patients can be confident that popular surgeons such as Dr. Luque are being constantly vetted and inspected by US companies like Nuehealth, Orbicare and Passport for Health, all of which feature Dr. Luque in their networks."

A picture is really worth a thousand words, and nothing speaks louder than patient before and after pictures. UVC members can access an online flipbook of Dr. Luque's patients at <http://pdf.nuehealth.com/cosmetic-before-and-after/>

Eagle's Wings Foundation Update

The Robert L. Kistner Scholarship fund is a program sponsored by Eagle's Wings Foundation that offers financial scholarships to needy students. Together with some of the Rotary Vallarta Sur members, and assisted by Herb and Mary Jean Mohn of the UVC Member Advisory Committee who are ardent EWF volunteers, we awarded the RLK scholarships to 6 kids. Each of EWF sponsored kids received a $4000 peso "approximately $325" scholarship check. The Rotary project monitors the funds and the kids' progress in school.

I love this scholarship project as it is very controlled, monitored, and we can be an integral part of helping these very worthy children pursue their dreams.

The parents of the students expressed their gratitude for the scholarship, as these kids are very smart but do not have any money for their education. In the best Spanish I could speak, reading a speech written by on-site administrator Cynthia Garcia, I explained to the kids how their scholarship program was created in honor of Bob Kistner.

It was very nice - the Colonia President arrived early to the event so that he could put up a tarp so we could all be in the shade. :) This is the kind of thoughtful and sincere appreciate expressed by the wonderful people we are able to help through Eagle Wings Foundation.

Deborah McPherson
Eagles Wings Foundation President

Culture Corner

History of Mariachi Music

Indigenous music was played with rattles, drums, flutes and conch-shell horns as part of religious celebrations prior to the Spanish arrival. The Spanish introduced various other instruments including violins, guitars, harps, brass instruments and woodwinds. These new instruments replaced most of the indigenous instruments. In addition to the instruments, the Spanish also introduced the concept of musical bands.

One of the folk musical styles that was created from the introduction of musical bands was called "Son." Son featured string instruments and was divided into various regional varieties. The state of Jalisco had one of the biggest music scenes at this time, from which modern mariachi music was developed. The common idea of the music and look of mariachi developed in the 20th century as the music moved from regional rural folk to an urban phenomenon that came to represent Mexico. The music was first introduced to Mexico City in 1905. Since then it has continued to grow in popularity, and has become well known as the music that represents the country of Mexico.

Beware of Timeshare Scams!!!

Many of our vacation club members are being approached by third party sales companies who SCAM them into paying a fee for selling their week and then VANISH. They prey on members who may have been affected by the economy by baiting them with the promise of “an interested party” who wants to purchase or rent their whole membership or even just a banked week. “All you have to do” is pay the transaction fees. Don’t be fooled!! If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is! NEVER pay upfront fees. UVC and the Villa Group are NOT affiliated with any third party resale company. We do everything we can to protect our member data and would never subject you to this solicitation.

We are working with associations and government agencies in both the US and Mexico and are beginning to make progress prosecuting these scam artists. We encourage you to submit any information you may receive from these companies – a contact name, phone number, copies of any documentation - directly to your Club Director Rhonda Mayer. Remember – DO NOT GIVE THEM ANY MONEY. Awareness and communication are the best tools for countering fraud!
